

Warriors and Soldiers (remastered)

by AnimeLover2403

Category: Dragon Ball Z, Sailor Moon

Genre: Adventure, Hurt-Comfort

Language: English

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-09 18:08:01

Updated: 2016-04-24 22:02:55

Packaged: 2016-04-27 20:07:25

Rating: M

Chapters: 5

Words: 10,953

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: This is the new and improved version of Warriors and Soldiers After a highschool merge, a certain group of girls cross paths with a certain duo of guys. When King Kai warns Goku of an oncoming danger of some very powerful teenager looking people, the Z Fighters battle against the Sailor Scouts. But are they going to war with the right people or do they have bigger fish to fry?

1. Chapter 1

*Hey guys, don't know if you read my other fic or not (warriors & soldiers) but I've decided to make a better version to it, maybe one that's worded better? Have you ever read over your fic and think 'that doesn't even need to be there' or 'that was pointless'? Yeah well that's why I'm doing this. I might delete the other one after this one is finishedâ€¦ but you guys can decide. ****

*Disclaimer: I don't own DBZ or Sailor Moon. Why do we need to do these things? If I owned them I'd be famous and I can assure you I'm not famous :/ ****

*Prologue: Towards the Earth ****

Galaxia's POV

It was true that I was probably one of the most feared villains in the entire universe. It was true that I have committed more sins than I have a number to describe. It is true that I was possessed by an evil force by the name of Chaos. It is true that the warrior named Sailor Moon freed me from my possession. It is true that I want to atone for my many sins. It is true that I want to use my powers as a true Sailor Guardian to do so.

Up until now I have went by the name of Sailor Galaxia. However, I have come to realise that during Silver Millennium 1000 years ago I was a part of _this_ solar system. My name was Galaxia, Princess of the Sun. I bet you're thinking how impossible that is, right? Well, the sun used to be a brilliant world much like the moon, Jupiter and the others. The story of how my beautiful golden planet turned to a burning hot star can be explained elsewhere. Right now I have other priorities like going to Earth. I have inquiries. What happened to Sailor Earth? Why was she not fighting alongside the other guardians. I wouldn't have been as bothered if it was one of the other guardians that I hadn't seen but I owed Earth a great debt that I doubt I could ever repay.

As I said before, I'm not going to share that story yet because it can be told another time. I have plans on how I am going to live my new life on Earth. I am going to take on the role of a young teenage girl who will still be in high school! I am going to learn about Earth's new ways because it's not like they had modern technology 1000 years ago. Sorry, that was a bad joke. Yes, that is my idea of a joke.

Oh, I should probably tell you how I am flying through space faster than a shooting star without a spaceship. This is a technique only sailor guardians can use. It is called the space field. By focusing our magic power we are able to create a kind of bubble around us which acts as a shield from meteor showers and habitat for as long as we need. We have unlimited oxygen whilst in a space field and we don't need to eat, drink or sleep either. Pretty handy is I do say so myself, and even better, the Suntonians (my people) were the ones who discovered the technique.

Travelling through space like this was a wonderful experience because you get a front seat view of the stars and the planets and everything beautiful! And in about ten minutes I would be able to see Earth. Yup, and half an hour ago I was just passing by Neptune! That would take years for any kind of spaceship to travel so far. Well, Earth spaceships anyway. But magic is a lot more useful than science in my opinion.

And now the beautiful blue planet is seemingly getting closer and closer, what was a tiny dot in my vision a few seconds ago is now a full on sized planet! Jealous yet? Yeah, thought as much. I'm far too fast for any satellites to pick up on, and in a matter of seconds, I would be able to sense the magic of the others and will be able to pinpoint a location.

Hey, hope you like. And it's a prologue so it's not gonna be too long. Personally I think that this one is better than my original Warriors and Soldiers. And by the time this one is finished I might delete the other one. I'm putting the first few chapters of this one up at the same time so I'm not gonna say on this one 'next chapter will be soon'. that's all for now folks!

2. The School Merge

Chapter One: The School Merge

Mina Aino had unfortunately woke up late this morning and only had fifteen minutes to get to school. She quickly brushed her teeth and hair, not bothering with her usual red bow today, and rushed out of the house. As expected though, she wasn't the only one running late for school. As Mina was running to school a certain blonde meatball head wasn't too far behind her.

"Hey Mina wait up, all this running is making my feet hurt!" moaned Serena who was trying to catch up to her friend.

"Can't talk, running late!" Mina shouted back to her friend. Mina was more athletic than the meatball head and was more ahead her in no time.

"C'mon Mina!" Serena started to shout but ran out of breath. How the sentence should have ended was: "I'm not gonna live through another detention."

In Mina's eyes, the school was coming into view, glancing at her watch, she still had seven minutes so she decided to take her sprint down to a steady walk. Just around the corner Lita was waiting for them. Next to Lita stood Amy their wise and kind friend who was a bookworm.

Mina finally reached the gates and still with three minutes to spare. "It's not like you to be late!" teased Lita, with a smirk on her face. "Hey, you have a little something!" she licked her finger and wiped Mina's face. Mina blushed.

"You're not my mommy! Yeah, I forgot to turn the volume up on my phone so the alarm didn't go off. But I just woke up and BAM! 15 minutes till school." Lita and Amy chuckled. "Hi Amy." the blonde said cheerfully.

"Hi, did you see Serena on your run?"

"Oh, uh yeah. She should be here about now!" hey, speak of the devil!" Mina stated as Serena ran across the road, tripped, almost got ran over, cursed at the driver, got cursed at _by _the driver, got back up and finally joined the crew.

"Mina! You left me behind!" shouted the blonde as the other blonde ushered the others along through the gates. "One minute till the bell, hurry up guys!"

"Serena, we were waiting for _you!_" Lita said as the girls entered the building just as the bell began to ring. They were on time for class. They took their usual seats and the teacher ran through the daily events such as; after school clubs, meetings, career events and the school merge. Yeah, the council had decided to build a new super school in which all of the high schools within a certain radius would band together to attend it. They had recently finished decorating the insides and finishing off the electrics etc so now they would move school.

The teacher prepared to speak, " As you all should know, the school is closing down as of Friday tomorrow because we are being merged with three other schools. Today and tomorrow are your last days here kids, make them count." she winked at the end of the sentence. Mrs Tamaki was super nice and best of all, their home room teacher. "I'm not gonna push you too hard today kids, just do a page or two from your textbooks and then you are free to do what you like!" Within reason of course." she ended her sentence with a second wink.

As she finished her sentence you could immediately hear the sound of textbooks being opened, pencils being sharpened and then absolute silence apart from the scribbling of the pencils. Right now, Mina and Lita sat next to each other which they were both happy with. Sitting next to someone new next week was gonna be so frustrating for the both of them because they were used to helping each other out and sometimes having a sneaky piece of chewing gum.

The lesson finally came to an end and so did the next one and the next one and the next one and the next one until finally school was finished for the day with no homework assignments or anything. The four girls reunited at staircase number two on the science department as they were only in the same homeroom class.

"I liked today, it was so easy and carefree." Serena spoke, everybody else nodded their heads. They started to walk down to the ground floor.

"I wonder if there'll be any hotties when we move to the other school!" Lita stated out.

"I suppose it would be nice to have a relationship" Amy accidentally blurted out and then turned a bright shade of red. They reached the bottom of the stairs and went out of the door and onto the grounds.

"Ooo Amy, I haven't heard this kind of talk from you before, what's brought this on hmm?" Serena teased her friend. Amy turned a bright shade of red and ignored the question even though she knew her friend had no ill will. "Ignore me Amy, but if you ever find a man who treats you like a princess and makes your heart beat that little bit faster, don't turn him down." Mina and Lita gave each other an amused look and then burst out laughing.

"H-hey! What was so funny about my speech, huh?" The whiny blonde asked the two. They both had a mischievous twinkle in their eyes.

"Listen at you talking like you're some kind of love expert!" Lita laughed.

"Hahahaha yeah! If anyone's the love expert here it's me, Venus, the goddess of love!" You know who giggled. Serena glared at them.

"Oh really? Goddess of love and beauty when I'm already engaged and you haven't been in love since you were thirteen! And I don't think anybody's fallen in love with you!" Meatball head shouted. Everybody went silent and expected Mina to shout or get angry but she just shrugged it off as if it were nothing.

"Y'know Serena, you're lucky that you're my best friend. Otherwise" Mina started, deliberately not finishing her sentence, hoping that the blonde would fall into her trap.

"Otherwise what?!" she replied with a nasty tint to her voice. Even though how Serena replied was harsh, Mina had already guessed what was gonna happen.

"

"Well wha-" Serena began but Mina's arms had stretched out and started to tickle Serena under her armpits. Serena screamed with laughter, "AHH! Stop it! STOP IT!" at this point tears were running down her cheeks as Amy and Lita sighed. They were receiving many strange looks from other students but the Blonde Duo weren't paying them any attention. Serena laughed so hard that she fell over; Amy and Lita continued to walk to spare themselves the embarrassment while Mina laughed at her fallen friend.

Serena finally regained her breath, "I-I'm gonna get you Mina, and when I do you'll be sorry!" Blondie#1 declared.

"Not if you can't catch me!" Blondie#2 teased. Seeing Mina run past them, Amy and Lita shook their heads and smiled.

"They're so childish." Amy stated.

"Yeah I know, but that's what makes them interesting I guess. Although I wouldn't want all of those people staring at me thinking I was retarded or something." Amy laughed at her friend's remark. The two turned back to see what had become of Blondie#1 although no sooner had they turned around had Blondie#1 had already picked herself up and ran past them.

By the time Amy and Lita had walked out of the school gates Mina and Serena or Blondie#2 and Blondie#1 were conversing with each other as if nothing had happened. When the two sensible ones had finally caught up with them they didn't even bother to ask.

After another five or so minutes of walking, Lita and Amy had reached the point where they had to break off from the other two.

"Bye everybody!" Lita and Amy said simultaneously as they headed off their separate ways. Mina and Serena still had a while to walk.

"Hey, wanna go and check out the new school again?" Serena suggested.

"Our parents might be expecting us home thoughâ€¦" that was true, but luckily for the Blonde Duo they could walk past their houses on their way.

"We can take the other route and pass by our houses. Hey! I just realised that when we move schools I'll be the closest to it out of you guys instead of the furthest away!"

"Yeah, and now you might not be as late!" The two friends laughed and chatted some more before stopping by Mina's house to tell Mrs. Aino.

"Mom!" Before Mina even had a chance to breath after shouting her 'mom' Mrs. Aino had already replied. "What?!" The two girls exchanged glances.

"Mina, I thought your mom was a kind non-shouty person! She sounds P-Od, can I wait here?" Serena sounded nervous.

"Are you kidding?! Absolutely not! She likes you so she might calm down a bit." And before Blondie#1 could protest, the other member of the blonde duo was already dragging her into the lair of the angry mother.

"Hey mom! Me and Serena were just gonna go take a look at the new school building. We just thought we'd let you know before we went." Mrs. Aino's voice seemed to change when she discovered Serena was with her daughter.

"Oh! Hello Serena, of _course _you can go. Oh!" she got up and headed towards the kitchen "and take these with you!" she chirped, handing them a packet of cookies.

"Thanks Mrs. Aino!" Serena also chirped.

"Please, call me Yuka! Now off you go ladies, I call your mom Serena so you don't have to stop by. I'm in the middle of one of my romance novels and the lover just confessed that he's dying sniff sniff." the Blonde Duo took the hint and left. They didn't even speak on their way although Mina gave Serena a nod of appreciation. They stuffed their faces until they reached the new school building.

"This place is huge! 1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,10,11 storeys! It looks really posh too! It must have cost millions!" Mina stated although she'd already seen it and counted the storeys before.

"I know, I can't wait to come here." Serena smiled. "And I can't wait to see Darien for the first time in forever." tears started to well up in her eyes.

"Hey, don't worry about it Serena. Because you know that he is missing you just as much, if not more. Take this advice from the goddess of love!" Mina gave her friend a reassuring look as Serena broke down. "Besides, I'm here for you."

"I know," was the reply as Mina walked Serena home with an arm around her.

After Serena had cried on Mina's shoulder, Mina pointed out a shooting star.

"Look at that, honey!" but by the time Serena looked the star was gone. "Oh, that was a fast on-"

"You feel it too, Mina?" Serena spoke up. They both felt it, someone with strong magical power. It was familiar too, considering how strong it was and how warm it felt they could only come to the conclusion that it was the one and only Galaxia.

"She's nearby!" the Lunarian said to her friend.

"I just wanted to live a normal life from now on, Serena. No more fighting!" her voice trembled. The two girls hurried to the source of the magical power which was surprisingly nearby. The source was getting closer and closer and easier to feel with every step that they took.

"Hey, don't Amara and Michelle live in this area?" panted Serena.

"Yeah, we're almost there." The two ran for another two minutes until they reached Amara and Michelle's back garden. They were expecting to see what they saw, well half of it. Amara, Michelle, Trista and Hotaru were sitting on an outdoor bench in the garden and having a conversation. They had only felt the surge five minutes ago and already the outers were casually conversing with someone who had almost ended their lives last year.

"Oh look, it's Serena and Mina!" Galaxia happily chirped leaving the two blondes staring in disbelief.

"G-galaxia!" the two said in unison.

"Please, do not fear me. I come in peace. As a matter of fact I have a gift for all of you, think of it as an apology gift."

* * *

>It was the last day of school before they left and came to the new super school. Trunks wasn't all that bothered about new places so he didn't really care, but as for his friendâ€|

"Man! I don't wanna leave this place. I'll easily get lost like I do in all new places." Goten complained to his friend. Trunks rolled his eyes at his life long best friend.

"Yeah but look on the bright side, you might finally be able to find a girlfriend." Trunks mocked, knowing that his friend had never had any kind of love interest.

"I'm not really into girls Trunks, I'm not interested." he frowned.

"Oh, so you're into guys? Well if you're crushing on me I'm gonna have to turn you down. Sorry but I don't swing that way." Trunks laughed at his own joke.

"You know that's not what I meant." the teacher then walked into the classroom. He looked as depressed as ever and even sounded depressed and miserable when he called out the register.

"Today's your last day here, as you may already know. So there isn't much point in doing any work because all of your workbooks have been placed at the super school. Therefore you have nothing to work in. so today the whole school is free to do as they pleaseâ€|within reason. If you look at the pupil notes you will see that different classrooms are displaying different movies if anybody's interested. Not that you have to. That is all and I will see you at Quatro Scholis [yeah I randomly picked this name] after the weekend."

Everybody exited the classroom excitedly. In the Home Economics department the teachers were letting everybody bake, in P.E you were free to work out in the gym or go swimming etc. Trunks and Goten headed to one of the common rooms for their year and chilled for a while.

"I hope Gohan isn't taking any of my classes." Goten sighed, "It'd be so embarrassing having all the girls in your class fancy your older brother. Gohan would make fun of me and pick on me too." Trunks thought about it for a second.

"_Or _you might get extra attention _because _your brother's hunky."

It took him a moment to realise what he had said after Goten started to laugh.

"Who's the gay one now? Sorry but Gohan's taken by my sister-in-law." Goten had tears running down his cheeks while Trunks didn't find it that funny.

"It's not _that _funny!" the purple head declared but Goten nodded his head and was still pissing himself. "Okay okay I get it! Let's get back to what we were talking about beforeâ€¦ Maybe some of the chicks from the other schools will wanna date you. You know that they fall head over heels for us. C'mon, girls like bodies like ours y'know, it'd be easy." Trunks was full of himself.

"What's the point? You've never stuck with any of yours for more than two weeks and it's not like we're old enough for you-know-what. Besides, my dad told me that girlfriends are a stupid idea because saiyans find mates."

"True I guess." and the rest of their school day flew by with them not really doing anything. They _did _watch a movie though.

"You can kiss goodbye to this school Goten." Trunks said at the end of the day. The two saiyen human hybrids walked towards their lockers to get their stuff. "You're eating at mine right?" Goten nodded his head and they got on one of the school buses as Trunks' houseâ€¦mansion was three miles away from the school.

"It's only Thursday, I don't see why today is the last day when it should really be tomorrow." Goten stated.

"Don't worry! It just means we get a long weekend." his friend replied.

Now the 'cool' kids sat at the back of the bus while the not-so-cool or younger students sat nearer the front. Obviously Hunky Trunkie sat at the back along with Goten. Some of the girls were eying them up as they made their way to their assigned seats.

"Hey Trunkie!" a girl called Amanda said, she wasn't his girlfriend or anything but the two were science partners and that was her pet name for him. She didn't really have a crush on him either unlike the other 90% of the girls did so he gave up flirting with her a while ago when she told him that he wasn't interested.

"Hey Mandy, guess we won't be science partners anymore." he pulled a childish frown and she punched him on the shoulder.

"Hey! I _am _actually sad about this! You're the only one who can keep up with me and I'm not sure if they'll be anybody else in Quatro Scholis if we're not together." she moaned. "But there _is _that Amy Mizuno girl. Apparently she's the smartest girl in the whole of Japan in our age group! Goten, rumour has it that she beat your brother's records that he set ten years ago."

"Well if she beat my brother she has to be something special." Goten gawked as he thought his brother was amazing. This girl _had _to be something special.

"Hey Amanda, apparently you're gonna have a rival for volleyball captain for the new school team! There's this one girl who plays volleyball professionally. Her name's Nina Oino or something like that." another one of the girls piped up, she was called Lucy.

"Haha, Amanda it looks like you're gonna be taken down a few pegs by these girls from Juuban. You'll have to re-earn your titles." Trunks teased her as him, Goten and Lucy laughed at the now annoyed Amanda.

"Shut u-!" she began to bellow when the bus turned a corner and she went flying on top of Trunks. Lucy, Goten and Trunks all started laughing again as the annoyed ginger picked herself back up. Her fuchsia eyes bore a hole in Trunks' head as her glare silenced everybody. "Besides you two, I heard that there's this girl who's really good at martial arts who kicks even the boys' asses. Watch out you guys 'cause I'll get her to teach you a lesson!"

"And there was me thinking that you were sad because we might not be science partners anymore! And now you want his girl to kick my ass? You're making me sad." he puckered his lips which earned him another punch on the shoulder from the angry ginger. She smiled.

"Science won't be the same without you Trunkie!" she whined and pulled him into a big hug.

"Aww, don't worry! We'll probably be in the same class anyway." she detached herself from his shoulders and nodded her head.

"C'mon Luce, here's our stop. Later Trunkie! Later Goten!" she smiled and then waved. They both waved back to the girls while the got off the bus.

"We'd better get ready too Goten." Trunks told his friend. They stood up, grabbed their bags and walked towards the front of the bus where the doors opened and they got off.

To get to the Capsule Corp. mansion you had to walk up a private road for ten minutes. Currently they were a few footsteps away from the road and they were having a slow walk towards it when they were met by a few guys from St. Christopher's Academy who were blocking the entrance.

"Excuse me, can you please move? We need to get up there." Trunks asked politely and when the one with shoulder-length hair looked him up and down and then carried on talking, Trunks got annoyed. "I said move!"

"Oh, so you're that rich boy who lives in that mansion up there? Sorry, but I don't answer to pussy-boy snobs." and then all three of them started laughing and the one who had spoke up spat on the ground next to Trunks.

Trunks and Goten exchanged glances and Trunks grabbed the one who had spat by the arm.

"H-hey man! Get off me!" the other two tried to intervene but Goten pushed one of them to the ground and then punched the other one in the stomach, bringing him to his knees.

"This is what you get when you mess with a rich boy!" Trunks smirked and then effortlessly flung the guy into the air and he landed a good ten metres away. Trunks and Goten stepped over the two guys and began to walk up to the mansion.

.

.

.

Okayyyy that does it for this chapter guys! Seriously I read over my other fic and realised that it needed a _lot _of editing. So much so that I just decided to re-write it. Anyways, I'm not sure if the next chapter will be up before I'm home so I'm just gonna tell you to enjoy the next chapter and please leave your opinions. BTW I'm taking out _a lot _of stuff from the other fic so yeah, I'm hoping this one will be better. Enjoy your day/night folks!
XD

3. Our New Power

Chapter 2: Our New Found Powers

Hey guys, dunno whether or not its gonna be finished by the time Im home or not but thats not gonna stop me from seeing if I can. If Ive missed any mistakes or anything while I was proofreading please PM me. **

"_G-galaxia__â€|"__ the two said in unison. _

"_Please, do not fear me. I come in peace. As a matter of fact I have a gift for all of you, think of it as an apology gift.__"_

"I-is that really true?" Mina asked, fear coursing through her veins, painful memories flashed in her head. Galaxia frowned while tears welled up in her eyes.

"Mina, I am so sorry for what I did to you and the girls! Please, I-I was possessed. I never meant to hurt anyone!" Mina didn't say anything or even look in Galaxia's direction. Multiple emotions were welling up in her head; anger, sadness, disgust, fearâ€| deep down she knew that Galaxia was innocent, but just _looking _at her was enough to bring back painful memories.

"If this is the reaction I get, I shall leave this planet. I do not want to bring back painful memories. It was my fault in the first place." Galaxia stood up and wiped her eyes. "I am so very sorry."

"No!" Mina shouted at Galaxia to everybody's surprise. At this point, Amy, Raye and Lita had just approached too. "You will stay! Don't take the coward's way out Galaxia! Here on Earth, you can live a normal life like the rest of us."

"What's _she _doing here?" Raye demanded, glaring at Galaxia. Michelle put her finger to her lips and then pointed to Mina, telling Raye that she was interrupting.

"But Princess Venus, the only thing I can do is bring back painful memories. If I goâ€¦!"

"But I won't _let _you go! Galaxia, while you're here you can atone. You can better yourself instead of reducing yourself to just a girl who committed many sins. Let us help you! I won't have you wondering the universe alone, even after what chaos made you do." Everybody stared at the Venusian Princess in awe. It wasn't like Mina to give speeches and lessons like that. Galaxia fell to her knees and started to sob.

"Yes! I will live a normal life. I will pay my atonement to you all!" Mina walked over to her and knelt down in front of her.

"You didn't deserve what you got, so I hope we can make you happy here." she told the Suntonian as she pulled her into a hug. Everybody watched in awe as the Venusian let the Suntonian cry on her shoulder.
T

After five minutes of crying and whispering from everybody else, Mina spoke up again. "I do believe you said that you have something for us." wiping Galaxia's now red eyes. The two girls stood up.

"Yes! I have something for everybody that I feel could help you along the way. If everybody, apart from Sailor Moon, hand me their transformation pens."

"Why would we do tha-" Lita began to argue until Trista silenced her.

"Why not me?" Serena moaned.

"Because you are already in possession of this power."

"Power? You mean an eternal transformation?!" Amara exclaimed.

"Yes. Now your pens, please." The Suntonian spoke up. Everybody happily took out their pens and they then started to hover in the air and form a circle. Golden bits of energy started to emerge from the Suntonian and make their way to the transformation pens.

"How does she still have so much power when Chaos is no longer?" Hotaru asked her other mother.

"I have no idea." Michelle replied, staring wide eyed at Galaxia. The pens were now engulfed in golden light and the golden light was now starting to change shape into a love heart shape with wing like objects attached to the bottom.

The golden light finally disappeared revealing eight brand new transformation brooches. They were identical to Serena's apart from the colour of the love hearts. The brooches hovered back down to their respective owners.

Mina held hers up, "It's beautiful. The orangey golden colour of the heart is beautiful."

The hearts consisted of two colours that had something to do with the guardians' appearance. The colours were blended so for example Mina's gold blended into an orange while Hotaru's purple blended into a brown.

"I see that you appreciate the appearance of the brooches, but they're not just for good looks." Galaxia stated. "Now Guardians! Hold them up and shout the name of your planets and then 'Eternal Power'!" her booming beautiful voice filled everybody's ears as they did as they were instructed.

"Mercuryâ€|"

>"Marsâ€|"

"Jupiterâ€|"

"Venusâ€|"

"Uranusâ€|"

"Neptuneâ€|"

"Saturnâ€|"

>"Plutoâ€|"

"Eternal Power! Make-UP!" they all shouted in unison as each of them started their transformation sequence.

"Hey, don't leave me out!" Serena shouted, getting out her eternal brooch. "Moon Eternal Power! Make-UP!" By the time she had started to transform everybody else had finished.

"Late again Sailor Moon!" Sailor Venus teased her comrade.

"Galaxiaâ€|how do you have the power to do this?" Sailor Saturn asked.

"That's easy, I used the power of Chaos! You see, Chaos has no physical body, so when you defeated it, the power had nowhere to go so I absorbed it again. I knew that if I harboured it for too long then I would become evil again so I could only think than to use its power to feed yours."

"That was some risk you took their Galaxia." Raye told the Suntonian.

"Yes, now you must see _my _new transformation! Sun Eternal Power! Make UP!" she shouted. Everybody watched in awe as bright orange, red and yellow lights swirled around the Sun Princess. Her fuku was the same as the others with the three layered skirt, the wing bow, the back ribbon and the sleeves. But her attire was decorated with beautiful orange, red and yellow jewels. On the tips of the wing bows, the middle of her back ribbon, her choker and the top of her boots were where the jewels hung. Also, there were three which hovered around her, one red, one yellow and one orange.

"Well, I considered myself the most beautiful Guardian but now I think otherwise, Sailor Galaxia." Sailor Venus said.

"Do not call me by that name! I am Sailor Sun although my first name is Galaxia. And thank you."

"Sailor Moon, considering you've harboured these powers longer than us, can we use these wings to fly?" asked the Time Guardian.

Sailor Moon shook her head. "Well, you sorta can. But they take up a great amount of magic energy. I've worked out that you can't use them for just flying around. I used mine to fly to the centre of the universe. They can only be used for great speeds because I was there in less than three seconds."

"Yes, Sailor Moon is correct. These wings can only be used for flying in space. Not only that, but they take up vast amounts of energy to do so, so they are not needed right now. Dispel them because during combat they only get in your way." Sailor Sun told them. They didn't seem to know how so Sailor Sun showed them. "Tap your brooch and then say, 'Eternal Wings, Dispel!'" Sailor Sun's wings then vanished as if into thin air.

"Eternal Wings, Dispel!" everybody shouted in unison as their wings as their beautifully feathered wings also vanished into thin air.

"Sailor Sun, we all thank you very much. Tell us, is there anything we can do to show our gratitude?" Sailor Pluto asked her.

"No! Please consider this as some of my atonement." Sailor Sun smiled at Sailor Venus who returned the smile. Sailor Venus fiddled with the small piece of chain dangling from her belt.

"I'm guessing this is my love chain."

"Correct. The love chain is more of an accessory than an attack so now when you use it, it doesn't use your up your magical energy."

"Wow, and I have a feeling that it's _much _stronger than it was before." Sailor Venus stated. "Guys, we should go somewhere sometime to test our new powers. But not now because I'm sure you guys," she pointed to the inners, "want to know why Galaxia is here." Sailor Venus finished off.

"We most certainly do!" declared Luna who had appeared out of nowhere alongside Artemis.

"Okay then everybody, de-transform and let's all squeeze into my house." Sailor Uranus commanded and everybody returned to their civilian forms.

Half of them had to sit on the floor considering the corner group settee wouldn't fit nine people. Galaxia stood in the centre of the room preparing to explain.

"Okay, after my defeat last year I went around the galaxies helping the planets that I had ruined. I even had a discussion with the Olive Princess and the Sailor Stars. I helped them rebuild their world although the Sailor Stars were quite hostile at first, not that I blame them of course.

"However, no matter how many planets I helped, homes I rebuilt, clothes I stitched back together, I still couldn't do anything for the amount of lives that I took. Did I forget to mention that by using their pure star seeds, I was able to restore the lives of the Sailor Animamates who I also apologized to. Although they insisted on helping me for a while considering they were under my possession just like I was under Chaos' possession.

"They were amazing and we even became friends. After we had tended to all of the planets I had ruined, they all returned to their own home planets. So then I decided to return to the solar system in which I was born. This one. I was first born at the same time as all of you. My title is Galaxia the Princess of the Sun. my planet used to shine brightly until that age of terror where my planet was turned into a burning ball of gas. ¾ of my people were killed. So ii went to fight the evil and ended up absorbing it and turning into Sailor Galaxia. And that is my story." Galaxia finally finished telling her tale while the other guardians just stared at her.

"Wellâ€|Galaxia that was quite a tale I must admit. And I'm sure there's much more where that came from, like your adventures on the planets. I'd love to hear them sometime." Mina hinted. The others agreed.

"Okay then. I shall definitely tell you my tales one day." her voice sounded so happy and Mina was glad that someone who had been through so much, could forget it all and make friends.

"Okay everybody, I'm going to go back to my father's house now. Thank you Galaxia, I look forward to protecting the galaxy with you." Hotaru said.

"Goodbye Hotaru." everybody said as Amara got her car keys ready to drive her daughter home. She had to admit that missed having Hotaru full time now, but now that she had gone back to being her original age and they weren't under any attack, she couldn't keep her away from her father.

Amara and Hotaru walked out the front door and both climbed into Amara's sports car.

"Hey Amara. You miss having me as your little girl don't you?" Hotaru asked crudely. It took the petrol head a while to come up with an answer.

"I guess I kinda do. It feels different not having a little five year old reading from your algebraic fractions maths textbook and answering every single sum correctly. But I don't mind because now you're like our grown up little girl and you're still with us a lot of the time."

"That's true." Hotaru giggled. They sat in silence for the rest of the journey until Amara pulled up at Dr. Tomoe's mansion.

"Here you are kid. I'm not gonna stay because I'm sure you have a lot to tell your father. And I have business to attend to at home. So I will take you shopping tomorrow okay?"

"Okay Amara! See you tomorrow then?"

"Yes, now shoo!" Amara ordered. She smiled at her once five year old daughter and then backed out of the huge driveway. "Now I wonder what's going on back at the mad house" she said to herself before putting her car into first gear and driving away.

.
. .

Yas! I got it finished before I got back home. I thought it would be better to explain how they all managed to become eternal instead of just saying that they were eternal like the last story. And I might even do another fic explaining Galaxia's adventures

4. The First Day

Chapter Four: The First Day at a New School

Now I _know _I'm not gonna get this chapter finished LOL but I might as well make a start. **

Amy woke to the sound of her alarm clock. Gracefully, she stepped out of bed and made her way to the kitchen which was decorated with loads of her father's famous artworks. She found her mother in her usual doctor's uniform eating crumpets for her breakfast.

"Morning, sweetie! I thought because it's your first day at your new school that I should make you breakfast instead of you having to worry about something else." Her mum gave her a sweet smile very much like the one she always gave her friends. Amy and her mother were very alike, down to appearance, to IQ and to personality.

"Thank you, mom. I really appreciate it. I wonder if Serena will be on time for her first day at her new school." Amy said. Mrs. Mizuno had heard tales of Amy's friend and chuckled at the thought of her being late and then having no idea where to go or what to do.

"Well, today is mostly going to be tours and things so I hope she catches up. But I have a feeling that she'll be okay." her mother smiled as she finished her crumpets. "Well, I'm covering A&E today. That's what happens when you study to get five different doctor qualifications." Amy really admired her mom and hoped to be just like her.

"And when you're older Amy dear, I hope you get six to break my record." Amy smiled at her mother. "If you want to be a little earlier today dear then I can drive you halfway but after that I'm going the straight road to the hospital. But I'm sure you don't want your mommy dropping you off on your first day do you now dear?" Mrs. Mizuno laughed and patted her daughter's head.

"I wouldn't mind, but I'd rather the fresh air. I'm going to get changed now." Amy told her mother. Her new uniform consisted of the same fuku as Raye's only a creamy colour, a purple sailor collar with a white stripe and a black stripe, a yellow ascot and a purple skirt. It was quite smart, smarter than the other one if she said so herself. She enthusiastically changed into it, washed in the bathroom, gathered her new school things and went down to her mother.

"Ready dear?" Amy nodded her head and climbed into the posh Range Rover of her mother's. The number plate read: S M1ZUN0 for Saeko Mizuno. Remember that Amy and her family were quite well off, her father was a famous artist and her mother was a five star award winning doctor. Her mother started the loud engine, backed out of the large driveway and started driving.

"I'm gonna like it there. I know it!" Amy said to her mother.

"Now that's the kind of attitude that my brainy, beautiful daughter has! Show 'em what'cha got honey!" Saeko told her daughter. "Now outta my car because I want to start work early today!"

"Bye mom!" Amy closed the door of the Range Rover and waved her mother off. Only five minutes of walking and she would've reached her destination. She started walking when she heard someone calling her name.

"Amy! Wait a sec we still have twenty minutes!" she turned around to see Serena, Lita and Mina all running to catch up to her. She waited 5.854 seconds for them to catch up to her. "So your mom dropped you halfway huh? Lucky for some." Serena scoffed.

"Serena, you live the closest to this place out of all of us and I still had to knock come calling for you. The only reason I didn't want to get the bus was because I wanted to walk with my friends." Lita scolded.

"Sorry Lita." Serena frowned.

"So Serena wasn't up early for her first day at a new school? Typical." Amy smiled.

"Stop teasing me!" the quartet started to walk.

"You know Galaxia started university today with Amara, Michelle and Trista?" Mina told them.

"No I didn't! How could she when she doesn't have a birth certificate or anything?" Lita inquired.

"She said that she was able to make herself a citizen and register herself on computers and stuff. She even has a fake name. She goes by Akira Maena and she's twenty years old."

"She must have some power and skill to do that! Well good for her! I hope she learns more about this day and age." Amy said.

"Trista's talking her into becoming a teacher so that _she _can teach people the ways of the world. I wish her the best!" Mina spoke. The girls finally reached the school gates. Everybody seemed to be making their way inside. "Hey, why are our ascots different colours? Mine and Lita's are blue while you guys have yellow ones." Mina inquired.

"It's probably house groups." Amy spoke as they entered the school. When they stepped inside there were five different teachers wearing five different colours, each one asking someone with the same coloured ascot/tie to line up in front of them. "Yep, I was right. I'll see you later Lita and Mina."

"Okay, goodbye and good luck!" Mina told them while Lita waved at them.

The girls were guided to a very large classroom with only twenty seats. The other space was used for bookshelves and storage places and supply drawers.

"My name is Miss Tamaki and I will be your home room teacher. I recognise a few facesâ€|Yep, you know who you are my Juuban girlies." she didn't mention names but they did know who they were.

"Yes! We get Miss Tamaki for home room." Mina loudly whispered to Lita.

"Now, your desks have been name tagged so please look for a desk that has your name on it and sit in itâ€|well not inside it because you guys don't look small enough but you know what I mean."

Mina and Lita were happy to find out that they had been put nearer the back of the classroom. Miss Tamaki smiled at the girls and called them toward her.

"Hey ladies, I hope you're glad I put you at the back of the classroom. I know you guys are usually good. And I also made sure you had some nice people to keep you company. Now I'm not gonna talk to you too much because I don't want everybody to think you're my pets, which you are, but do me proud girls like you always do. Oh, and Mina you may have some volleyball competition. Coach here is running a trial next week to see who our volleyball team will be although I've already reserved a place for you. But that's only because you're good! Now get lost and sit in your desks!" she spun them around and shooed them away. The girls took their seats and Lita was sitting next to some _serious _eye candy.

Mina hadn't looked at her desk mate yet because she was busy getting out her stuff and so was he. Miss Tamaki knew what she was doing.

"Right class, I'm gonna read out the register." Mina knew she would be the top of the list or near it. "Mina Aino?"

"Present, Miss." the guy sitting next to her spun his head and stared at her which she pretended not to notice by creating a wall between them with her hair. 'What a weirdo, he's creeping meâ€|he's still staring at me!' she thought to herself.

"Trunks Briefs?"

"â€|" Mina lifted her head up immediately at that name. 'There's no wayâ€|it's just not possible'. A white board pen hit the boy sitting next her.

"Trunks Briefs?!"

"Present, Miss." the boy next to her spoke. Mina's eyes widenedâ€| 'That _can't _be true.'

"Do not make me repeat myself! I don't want to make an enemy out of one of my students within the first five minutes of knowing him, kapeesh?"

"Yes, Miss. Sorry." he replied. Miss Tamaki went back to doing her register. Mina tucked her wall of hair behind her left ear and glanced to her left, meeting the eyes of person who was already staring at her.

"M-mina?" he whispered. This wasn't possible. Not. At. All.

"The dead can't come backâ€¦I saw you die right before I blacked out." she whispered.

"I-i..." it had been years.

"No, i-it can't beâ€¦" she started before she could see her vision caving in and hear a buzzing sound in her ears.

"Mina!" he shouted, getting the attention of everybody in the class. Miss Tamaki rushed to the back of the class where Trunks had stopped her from falling off her seat.

"She passed out. Nobody panic, I'm going to call the nurses office." she hurried back to the front of the classroom and to the phone. She dialled in a few numbers. "Hello, Miss Tamaki here. One of my students has gone into a state of shock. Homeroom 2-4. Bring a stretcher she's out for the count." Miss Tamaki was still talking on the phone while Lita had jumped out of her seat and sat her friend up properly against her chair.

"C'mon Mina! Wake up!" she repeated, standing above Mina, holding her head and slapping her face. She stopped after five slaps when she realised that wouldn't do anything. She continued to hold her head up until the nurses came. 'Oh crap!' Trunks thought. He looked at his friend Goten for reassurance but Goten didn't seem interested.

Finally two nurses came into the room with a stretcher. Lita lifted her onto the stretcher and sat back in her seat.

"Alright class! Settle down, let's get on with the lesson!" Miss Tamaki hushed. 'You'd better be back in my class by lunchtime prat!' she thought to herself.

"Okay class, my name is Mr. Son and I'm your homeroom teacher so I'll be teaching you all the non practical stuff. I hope we come to like each other. I also do the after school maths study group which will be starting next week. Feel free to come. Now, when I point to you I want you to say your names so I'm not calling you '_You' _or _'Person over there'_"

"Why don't you just do the register and see who answers?" One of the guys asked, he was sitting in the desk behind Amy and Serena who were sitting together.

"Good point. But please have more manners when you're speaking to meâ€¦" the teacher looked at his seating plan, "â€¦Casper." the guy called Casper nodded his head sheepishly. "Now I understand that I have Amy Mizuno in my class. Could you kindly stand up please Miss Amy?" Amy did as she was told. "I hear that you're a record breaker for teenage IQ's. I used to be too, right up until I was nineteen when I was too old. So Miss Mizuno, I want to challenge you at some point." Amy looked as if she didn't want to and was about to say no, when Serena tugged on her clothing and whispered to her.

"Amy, accept his challenge! After all, it's not everyday you get to work with someone of your level." Amy considered her friend's words.

"I accept your challenge sir." Amy's face changed from her usual shy one to one with determination and competitiveness.

"Good, but let me warn you that I have an IQ of 318." he said and stood proudly as the whole class gawked. Serena raised her eyebrows at Amy, encouraging her to spill the beans and reveal her own.

"Well sir, I warn you that I have an IQ of 334. I wish you luck!" Amy high-fived Serena and sat back down feeling triumphant thanks to her friend. The whole class gawked at her.

"Well, Miss Amy I look forward to it!" The rest of the class whispered among each other until Gohan punched his hand down on one of the filing cabinets. "Silence!" he shouted, not realising why all of the class were staring at the cabinet he'd just punched until he glanced at it himself. "Yep, you guessed correctly! He punched a hole at the top. "Hehe" guess I'm gonna have to sort that out later. Anyway, your workbooks and textbooks are already on your desks so I suggest you start to work. No talking either, I'm gonna start the register."

.

.

.

Well, I have to admit that I didn't get this one finished before I went back home. Never mind. Anyways, I'm not really expecting reviews until a bit later on. How do Mina and Trunks know each other? What is she on about? Which nerd is gonna win? Stay tuned to find out.

5. Peace Never Lasts Forever

Chapter Four: Peace Never Lasts Forever

.

Mina opened her eyes to see a woman in a baby nurses uniform standing over her. She moved her hands to shield her face because the light was a little too blinding.

"She's awake. Can you hear me?" One of the nurses spoke up. She had a hoarse voice like a man. Mina nodded her head, still trying to adjust to the light. "Do you feel dizzy or sick?" Mina shook her head. "Good, because we also checked you out for any injuries and you don't seem to have any. If you start to feel dizzy or anything, come straight back here." Geez, she sounded more manly the more she spoke.

"Thank you ma'am, and I will." she said to the manly nurse. Her school bags were on the floor beside the bed. Mina took her bag and walked out of the infirmary and started to head back to class. She didn't quite make it because the bell rang for the next swap over. Yeah, since it was the first day the students are taken to their new classrooms to be shown where everything is and stuff.

Apparently she had only been out for ten minutes. As her delicate fingers went to open the door knob, Miss Tamaki had already opened it from the inside.

"Did Miss Sleepy Head enjoy her nap then?" Miss Tamaki teased. Mina glanced into the classroom to see that everybody was gathering up their stuff and getting ready to go. "C'mon, I'm taking everybody to the science department and then I want you all back at the period before lunch." she raised an eyebrow at Mina but her topaz orbs were shining. "Don't think you're getting away from my class _that _easily Mina." once Miss Tamaki had finished addressing Mina she guided Mina and the entire class towards one of the staircases. Mina waited behind for her brunette friend.

"What happened? Are you okay?" her friend asked who had a concerned look in her eye. "It's not like you to spaz out." Mina looked down at her feet. It wasn't that she was sad or anything, but she had watched Trunks die at the hands of Majin Buu before she had blacked out nine years ago.

"I'll tell you later. Lunchtime sound good? It's a weird story." Mina glanced at her friend who was nodding her head in a suspicious manor.

"Okay class. These tours last twenty minutes like the tour in my class. I will be your homeroom teacher so I expect you back at the period before lunch. This is the science department and all of the different classrooms have numbers on the doors. Take a look at your timetables and then you can go. See you later, class." she shoed them away.

"What classroom are you in?" Lita asked her friend, hoping that they would yet again be in the same class.

"Let me just seeâ€¦" Mina opened her satchel and fished out a folded sheet of paper. "Science 7-2. What about you?" Lita also rummaged through her satchel and found her timetable.

"Errâ€¦ it says here that I'm in classroomâ€¦ 4-2. Guess I'll see you laterâ€¦"

* * *

>"Take this Kakarot!" Vegeta and Goku matched each other punch for punch, kick for kick and ki blast for ki blast.

"I think we should take a break Vegeta before Bulma scolds us for messing up her gravity room." Goku powered down and scratched the back of his head.

"Yes, I agree with Goku! Because this time I'm not bustin' my ass fixing that thing for you two just to ruin it again!" a certain blue haired scientist scolded the two saiyans. "And Goku, you guys _should _take a break because I'm so nice I brought you out some snacks." She lifted a tray full of sandwiches up in the air and smiled. Vegeta walked up to her and took them off her although she was able to grab one first.

"Thanks, woman." he huffed and went back to where Goku was with the tray in his hand.

"Enjoy boys!" she smiled. "Now I'm gonna be working on something in my lab so just try not to destroy the gravity room today 'cause I'm busy." she turned around and started to walk off.

_Goku? Goku can you here me? _A strange voice in his head sounded.

"Yes King Kai, I can hear you." Goku replied. Bulma turned around when she heard him mention King Kai's name.

"What's going on?" she asked, but her mate shrugged.

You're in big trouble!

"What've I done this time? I helped you fix your car.

You were the one who broke it. And you got Bulma to do it, you didn't fix it yourself! Anyway-

"Sorry King Kai!"

Don't interrupt me

Goku! Imagine four people as powerful as Beerus going around destroying galaxiesâ€¦|

* * *

>Mina and Lita couldn't find their other two friends no matter where they looked.

"Looks like it's just you that I'm gonna share my story with." the blonde said to the brunette...

* * *

>"So Galaxia, how was your first day at university?" Mina asked the sun goddess. Galaxia smiled and her eyes lit up as if she was gonna tell them a tale.

"Well, I now go by the name of Akira, and I think that you should call me by that name too so that there is no risk of you accidentally calling me Galaxia in public." after she had set this ground rule, she then began to tell the tale of her first day at university.

"My first class was course studying. All of the newbies are supposed to take classes to help them decide what they want to do." Everybody nodded, they were at Amara's house again. Without anybody noticing, Hotaru's eyes blanked out and she was staring into space. She was having a vision. Galaxies were shattering, innocent people were being tortured, children were being killed. They weren't human, but a species that Hotaru hadn't seen before which figured considering they were from a faraway galaxy. So many terrible things were happening and it was all at the hands of only four people.

"Hotaru? Hotaru? She's waking up." Hotaru opened her eyes to see a blur of tan, green and red. When her vision finally focused she was able to see that it was Trista.

"W-what happened to me?" the destruction goddess wondered out loud.

"Please stay lying down." Trista urged the girl.

"Gee, that's two of us that've passed out cold today. Mina we still need to hear your reason. Trista, is she okay?" Lita asked in general concern.

"She'll be fine. Here, take this water." Trista urged, Hotaru's lips barely touched the side of the glass and you could barely say that she had sipped it.

"Sweet Jove! Look at how pale she is, and what's with her eyes?" Lita asked.

"I dunno, but at least you didn't go slapping her like you slapped me!" You know who said.

"How do you know about that?"

>"Miss Tamaki." the blonde smirked and then turned her attention back to Hotaru like everybody else.

"Th-they're as powerful as him!" Hotaru said, her hands shaking so violently that bits of water were jumping out of the glass. The door burst open at that point and in walked everybody's favourite priestess.

"I saw it. I had a premonition! Hotaru, you of all people should be able to sense it." she exclaimed, looking almost as pale as Hotaru. Hotaru nodded.

"Do you mind me asking what's going on?" Amy spoke up.

"Yeah, tell us." Mina asked. Amara and Michelle looked especially worried. Hotaru sat up by herself and Raye went to stand next to her.

"In our past lives, do any of you remember hearing tales about Beerus?" the Martian princess spoke up. Beerus. Everybody paled at the thought of him.

"A fellow god of destruction." Hotaru sighed, knowing that even though her and Beerus were both gods of destruction, their powers were totally different. And she knew that he could be able to overpower her. "Although our magical powers don't really compare. Compared to him, in this form I could barely be called a destroyer. Imagine four of Beerus. That's what we're up against." Everybody gawked. They all had been read stories of Beerus when they were little children in their palace bedrooms and had often resulted in a nightmare. Anybody who knew of him would shake at the sound of his name, let alone be told that four people of his level were going around blowing up galaxies.

* * *

>"So what was the deal with that girl earlier on?" Goten asked Trunks, not really too concerned but just curious.

"When we were eight we used to go to the same school until she moved away." he sighed.

"So? What did you do to make her pass out?" again, not really in a I'm-concerned-tone, just general curiosity.

"She heard my name. Y'know when we were fighting Buu? She was standing over us when he destroyed the world. I have no idea what she was doing out there to be honest but right before he blew this place up she was shaking me. So you were there too."

"But I thought we made a wish for nobody to remember the events of Buu? It's impossible, she can't remember!" Goten had gone from I'm-not-really-concerned to how-the-fuck-is-that-possible.

"That's what I'm struggling to figure out. I'm going to ask my father." Trunks stated as he opened one of the many doors to the CC [I'm just gonna say this instead of Capsule Corp.] mansion. They walked into the main room where both of their families were sitting having a discussion, even Videl, Gohan and Pan.

"Mom! Big bro's back!" Bulla shouted at the top of her lungs.

"Daddy look! It's Uncle Goten!" everybody reared their heads and turned towards the duo.

"We have something that we need to tell both of you." Goku said to the boys while Bulma motioned for them to sit down.

"What's wrong, dad?" Goten looked concerned as him and Trunks sat down on one of the other couches. Bulla's and Pan's voices could be heard in the other room where they had ran off to.

"You both know how strong Beerus is. Even Vegeta and I have trouble sparring with him in our Super Saiyan God Super Saiyan forms." Trunks and Goten looked at each other.

"Shouldn't Beerus be taking a nap for another decade or something? Is he gonna attack us because with the two of you combined you could beat him I'm sure of it!" Trunks declared. Goku shook his head.

"There are four people who are destroying worlds and galaxies, taking in slaves and selling planets. From what King Kai told the clown, they use a very different style of fighting. They apparently don't use ki, but some sort of magic." Vegeta said solemnly. Goten glanced at Trunks and vice versa. They both began to laugh.

"Abracadabra!" Trunks shouted.

"Alakazam!" Goten also shouted. Vegeta had punched them both in the stomach by the time they had finished their laughing fit.

"Are they really that bad?" Trunks lay on the floor curled up in a ball, trying not to let tears spill from his eyes. Vegeta and Goku nodded simultaneously.

* * *

>"Hotaru, if they're more powerful than Beerus, then do you have anyone to compare them too?" Amy asked, like the rest of them, she wanted to know what the hell they were up against.

"I'm not sure you want to hear thisâ€|" Hotaru left her sentence open because she wasn't joking although she would've answered it anyhow. Amara held Michelle closely.

"Hotaru, give us an answer please." Luna spoke up.

"Wellâ€|" she began.

"Wellâ€|" everybody said in unison.

"If you want a clear comparisonâ€|at maximum powerâ€|M-Mistress 9..."

.

.

.

Heyyy. Sorry it took so long but I've been revising for tests and stuff. I know the chapter isn't that exciting but trust me it gets better. I haven't given the full explanation on Mina's and Trunks' past yet but yeah it was something to do with Majin Buu. I would like to thank my awesome friend JD for supporting me all through this story and the last. Honestly, you've been awesome and you're part of the reason I started rewriting this fic in the first place. And I know that a lot of people don't like me using the dub names but I watched almost all of Sailor Moon with the dub names and that's what I've gotten used to. But that still doesn't change who the character is, I kept all of the last names the same anyhow not that that makes much of a difference. Goodbye for now xD

End
file.